The Video Review

By Rob Gonsalves

John Landis, who directed the new horror-comedy Innocent Blood, has always had a touch of schizophrenia in him: Part of him wants to make you laugh, and the other part wants to make you scream. Preferably at the same time. As we'll see from looking at two of his earlier films (available on video), the mixture of fright and fun in Innocent Blood is hardly new territory for him.

Schlock (1973)- Also known as The Banana Monster. After appearing as an extra in such films as Death Race 2000 and Battle for the Planet of the Apes, Landis made his directing debut with this crude but sporadically funny spoof of monster-on-the-loose flicks. He filmed it at the tender age of 21, and it shows; he didn't really develop a style until his second feature, The Kentucky Fried Movie, which got his foot in the door to direct Animal House. Still, Schlock united Landis with Rick Baker (the make-up genius who built the gorilla suit Landis wears as the monster), who would serve him well years later. B

An American Werewolf In London (1981) -- Landis's best film. Two college students (David Naughton and Griffin Dunne) vacationing in England run into a snarling werewolf. Dunne is killed, and Naughton survives with a few scratches. Unfortunately, that means Naughton himself will become a werewolf when the next full moon rolls around. Much of it is hilarious (the undead Dunne comes back to haunt Naughton in various stages of decay, moaning, "Have you ever talked to a corpse? It's boring"), and some of it is genuinely frightening (the monster stalking its prey in a subway station). You'll want to freeze-frame the brilliant, Oscar-winning transformation sequence, handled by none other than...Rick Baker. A+

The ABC's of Nutrition

Linda Marcoux Outlines the Basics of a Healthy Diet

According to Registered Dietician Linda Marcoux, R.D., most people who are striving to lose those extra pounds make the common mistake of expecting instant results.

"We live in a quick fix society," she said. "But people need to be self-motivated and have to really want to change their habits. Short-term goals tend to yield only short-term results."

In her new book-length guide to good nutrition, Nutrition Power Talks: Over 100 Nutrition Ideas for Health Professionals, Ms. Marcoux sets out to dispel the myths and misconceptions surrounding diet and exercise. The book, which began as an article in Idea Today, a magazine for professional aerobics instructors, is one of the few to focus on all aspects of a healthy diet and caters to everyone from doctors and nurses to athletic trainers and chiropractors.

Ms. Marcoux, a Marion resident who grew up in Mattapoisett and attended ORR, has been an aerobics instructor at the Faunce Corner Club in Dartmouth for the last four years and spawned the idea for the book during some informal after-class sessions with her students.

"People in the class would always ask for my advice on losing weight," she said. "That made me think that I could offer them some of what I've learned over the years."

She quickly discovered that many people were too concerned with dropping what she terms "scale weight" and teetered dangerously close to starvation in attempts to lower their calorie intake.

"People focus too much on scale weight when they expect to see a loss of pounds," she said. "Conceivably, if a person weighs 200 pounds ... 150 pounds is lean body mass — which is muscle, tissue, organs — and 50 pounds is body fat. You want to reduce only the fat, not the body mass."

"If someone were going on a starvation-type diet, they might go down to 140 pounds of lean body mass but their body fat percentage would stay the same. On the scale they would think they lost 10 pounds. But it's important to know where that loss came from."

She said that people who become obsessed with "counting calories" are missing the mark because certain types of food will burn off easier than others. Instead, she emphasizes a well-balanced, nutritional program which reduces fats and oils to 30 percent of total calorie intake. Simply put, she endorses sensible eating habits and an equal allotment of fruits, grains, vegetables, meats and dairy products.

In terms of exercise, Ms. Marcoux recommends anything which the person enjoys. She puts no emphasis on specific exercises to achieve certain results. Instead, she feels it is important to pick both the right method and the right time in which to lose weight.

"Losing weight has to be something internal," she said. "If there's a lot of turmoil in someone's life, they should wait until things are relatively calm before attempting a weight loss program. The timing has to be right and the expectations have to be within reach."

"The only prerequisite is that you choose something you enjoy," she said. "Because it's something you're going to want to do for the rest of your life. Even those few extra steps to the post office or the supermarket make a big difference. Whatever floats your boat."

Ms. Marcoux's interest in nutrition and good eating habits also extends to the local community. She is currently involved with a wellness program at Carver High School and will soon be lending her services to Plymouth High School as well. The program incorporates Ms. Marcoux's nutrition plan with a relaxation and coping method developed by Janice Snyder.

In addition, Ms. Marcoux is working closely with a local breast cancer prevention program in order to determine what effects a healthy diet can have on the illness.

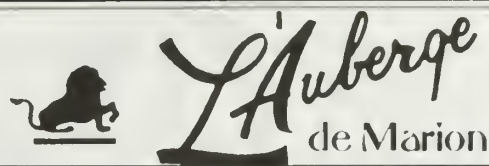

"Research has proven that nearly 80 percent of all diseases could be prevented simply by teaching people to eat right," she said.

She would also like to see steps taken to monitor some of the lunch programs in area schools, stressing that she isn't out to condemn all cafeteria menus.

"Our children really need to be educated in the cafeteria," she said. "Parents are trusting that the schools are feeding their kids healthy meals ... but sometimes for the sake of convenience, they're not."

And with nearly 92 percent of Marion students buying lunch in school, Ms. Marcoux would like to see some effort made to teach the kids healthy eating habits from the start.

To her, good nutrition is elementary.

"It's not really a radical idea," she said. "It's just sensible eating and learning to treat your body right."

animals in the tri-town area.

The Wanderer is happy to report that last week's adorable pair, "Hansel" and "Gretel" were both adopted — one by a family in Fairhaven, the other in Mattapoisett. Past offerings including "Rusty" and an all-grey calico have also found homes in the area as a result of our efforts.

This week, we have a special Halloween offering in honor of the upcoming celebration of ghouls, ghosts and witches.

Instead of these nasty things that go bump in the night, however, we'd like you to consider three fluffy, cuddly things that purr in the night.

Meet "Pumpkin," "Pepper" and "Pee-Wee."

"Pumpkin" is a half-orange, half-black long-haired female, about 10 weeks old and is purr-fect to tag along when you go trick or treating. But keep her away from bright light, water and never feed her after midnight ... or was that another little fluffy creature?

"Pepper" is a brown-toned tiger, also 10 weeks old, and has short hair. Don't let the two-tones fool you, she's all cat from head to tail and will only transform when bathed in the light of a full moon.

Sadly, "Pee-Wee" suffers from a heart murmur and weighs only 1 pound. This tiny all black female does need a home and requires special care. And even if she does cross your path once or twice, wouldn't it be worth the risk?

Mattapoisett Selectmen's Meeting October 13, 1992

A meeting of the Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen was called to order on Tuesday, October 13 at 7:04 pm by Chairman John N. DeCosta. Present were Selectman Paul E. Lambalot, Selectman Daniel O. Mahoney and Executive Secretary Carol Adams.

Attorney Robert Moore came before the board to discuss a change in the Deniz property deed for land located at 67 Church Street. The change, according to Mr. Moore, was to rectify a tax payment record for 1986, whereby the owners would not be required to pay additional excise taxes on property they've already purchased.

Selectman Mahoney, in agreeing with Mr. Moore, said that under the new terms of the deed, "a tax stamp is not required," and recommended that the stipulation be added to the new version. The previous deed was nullified and the new, edited deed was signed by the Board of Selectmen, witnessed by Fire Chief Donald Wood and notarized by Ms. Carol Adams.

The board next met with Fire Chief Donald "Woody" Wood to discuss the status of Fire Engine No. 4, which has been sent to Middleboro for repairs. Chief Wood said that there was no official report yet on the status of the nearly 20 year old vehicle, but would be sure to advise the board when he received word. When asked what he thought repairs to the 1,000-gallon pumper engine might cost, Chief Wood said he couldn't be sure, but somewhere between $35,000 and $40,000.

Selectman Lambalot suggested that it might be in the town's best interest to look into a new vehicle if it would cost that much and Chief Wood agreed that if it came to that, he would like to see an engine for use specifically on brush fires, for which he has to call for out of town help.

At the present time, however, the chief and the selectmen agreed to wait for an official report on what it would cost to repair Engine No. 4.

Members of the Board of Selectmen next signed payrolls, bills, licenses, permits and outgoing correspondence for the week, including authorization for the Enterprise Fund Account to submit a Recap Sheet for the Department of Revenue.

Chairman DeCosta next cited meetings scheduled throughout the week, beginning with an October 15 Classification Meeting with the Board of Assessors slated for 7:00 pm. On October 17 at 8:00 am, Selectman DeCosta, Selectman Lambalot and Highway Surveyor Wesley Bowman will be touring the town to check on the condition of roads and determine which, if any, require repair. On October 18 at 10:00 am, there will be a service to honor Police, Fire and Rescue workers at the Congregational Church.

At 7:30 pm, the board met with Water Superintendent William Nicholson along with Clifford Tripp and Donald C. Wood of the Water/Sewer Commission to discuss the recent boil order put in effect for Mattapoisett.

Mr. Nicholson said that the boil order is still in effect and he has been keeping in close contact with members of the press and television media to alert residents to this fact. He updated the board on water samples which were taken throughout the weekend and offered the following results out of eight sample locations throughout town:

• Saturday, October 10 —

6 locations tested showed no signs of coliform bacteria
 2 showed small amounts of coliform bacteria
 • Sunday, October 11 —
 7 locations tested showed no signs of coliform bacteria
 1 location sample was disqualified
 • Monday, October 12 —
 8 locations tested showed no signs of coliform bacteria
 1 additional site was also tested and showed no signs of contamination

Although this is potential good news, Mr. Nicholson was cautious about getting residents' hopes up too soon. "We have to have to test three days of clean samples, by law, before we can lift the boil order," he said. "But I want to caution everyone that although three clean samples is the minimum required, I won't be willing to lift the ban until I am certain it is safe."

Mr. Nicholson added that he had been highly suspect of the North Street water tower but was unable to make a definite determination as to the cause of the problem. There was no contamination found at any of the source wells and he believes that the roof of one of the storage tanks, which is comprised of 12 fiberglass seams, might have been the problem. It had a crack about 1/8-inch wide in one of the seams — which has since been repaired — and Mr. Nicholson said that anything from dust to debris could have contaminated the water supply in that way.

In the meantime, he intends to keep taking water samples and tracking the progress of the various water towers in town. They have chlorinating the various tanks (in amounts of 1 part per million) and flushing the infected areas.

At this time, Chairman DeCosta wanted to openly thank Mr. Nicholson and his department for a job well done. "Nick and his crew were out there working all weekend together with the Water Commissioners," Mr. DeCosta said. "I think they deserve a great deal of thanks for their efforts."

Selectman Mahoney echoed Chairman DeCosta's sentiments.

"This is one of those problems that can occur from time to time and can be readily fixed with a little patience and dedication," he said.

In addition to the Water/Sewer Commissioners present, the board wished to publicly acknowledge the efforts of Henry Renaud, John DeCosta Jr. and George Block.

At 7:45 pm, members of the Board of Health (BOH) met with Selectmen to discuss the property located at 143 Fairhaven Road, formerly doing business as Joseph's Restaurant. Selectman Mahoney opened the discussion by explaining to BOH members that the property in question might be a candidate to tie into the Fairhaven sewer system.

that the matter was brought to the board's attention when a local resident expressed interest in purchasing the property, since previous owners have filed for bankruptcy and are presently in Chapter 7. According to Ms. Adams, the interested party is willing to do whatever needs to be done to make the property usable.

According to BOH Chairman Daniel C. Lee Jr., "The thing is that if they do not want to faithfully stick to pumping the system on a regular basis, the would do a lot better tying into (Fairhaven's) sewer system."

of septage pumped over 600 gallons in one year would be assessed a 5-cent per gallon surcharge, according to BOH member Robert Fields. At those rates, the new proprietors of the land in question could pay as much as $100,000 a year in septage disposal costs.

Water Superintendent William Nicholson concurred with this assessment, saying that in 1990, there was a total of 335,000 gallons pumped from the property, which accounted for 35.6 percent of Mattapoisett's total allotment of septage to Fairhaven. In 1991, a total of 247,000 gallons was tallied (25 percent) and in the first six months of this year, 53,000 gallons (8.3 percent).

"My idea is that we should talk to Fairhaven about receiving septage from the property," Mr. Nicholson said.

But Selectman Mahoney was concerned that it might cut into the town's total allotment under the terms of the contract between Mattapoisett and Fairhaven for septage disposal. "We ought to take the position ... that the burden of paying for pumping out the site should be placed on the prospective buyer, not the town," he said.

"I wouldn't want it to come out of Mattapoisett's capacity," Mr. Mahoney added. "It strikes me that they need to have some engineering work done to determine what alternatives are feasible."

"I have very serious problems with reopening that location under the existing conditions," Selectman Lambalot agreed.

Both the BOH and Board of Selectmen agreed to do some follow-up research into the matter and contact members of the Fairhaven Board of Health to find out what needs to be done.

Chairman DeCosta next cited incoming correspondence for the week, beginning with a memo from Natural Resource Officer Brian Nunes recommending that the town open all areas to the taking of shellfish beginning on October 17. According to Ms. Adams, Mr. Nunes was concerned that some of the shellfish are not going to survive through the regular shellfishing season and wanted people to take advantage of the supply while they were still alive.

The Board unanimously approved Mr. Nunes recommendation, opening the town to the taking of shellfish from October 17, 1992 through April 1, 1993.

A notice was sent to the board from the Division of Marine Fisheries restricting the taking of shellfish from two small areas in town — the Mattapoisett Boat Yard and Crescent Beach — due to unacceptable water quality.

SELLING?

Home improvements and renovations done to increase return on investment at time of resale have been the focus of many studies by national real estate organizations. Research included time, materials, and professional installation, listed by project in order of return on expenditure at time of sale. The minimum impact of any of the top ten improvements was a shorter time on the market and a price more in line with the actual value of the house.

In every case an interior face lift rated as the number one improvement. Repainting ceilings, walls and trim, wallpapering baths, carpet and linoleum on a typical 3 bedroom 1 1/2 bath home in a middle class neighborhood averaged $3900 and returned 90% of investment. Additional profits can be attained by doing your own home improvements. Let us show you how easy it is.

SEMASS sent notification to the Board of Selectmen advising them of the waiver of Annual Minimum Tonnage Requirements for 1993 pursuant to the Waste Acquisition Agreement.

Mr. Clark L. Ziegler, Executive Director of the Massachusetts Housing Partnership, sent a letter congratulating the Town of Mattapoisett for its affiliation with the Housing Partnership and the Marion/Mattapoisett/Rochester Housing Co-Op for the upcoming year.

Ms. Irene Dupery-Gutierrez, a Career Options Coordinator at Old Colony Voke wrote to Selectmen to advise them of various programs that will be scheduled between October 29, 1992 and April 29, 1993. Some of the programs include: "Teen/Parent RAP Session" (October 29); "Sexual Harassment: Where is the Line?" (November 19); "HIV and AIDS: The Human Side" (January 21); "Dealing with Death: Grieving and Healing" (February 25); "Crisis Intervention: Where to turn for Help" (March 18) and "Community Resources: Untangling the Help and Service's Programs" (April 29). All programs will be held on Thursday evenings, from 6:30 to 8:30 pm.

The board next received a copy of the Waterways License Application of Taylor Seafood of Mattapoisett, Inc. for its proposed use of an area in Nasketucket Bay which was granted by the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP). A hearing will be held on the matter with Taylor Seafood officials and the Board of Selectmen on October 22 at 7:30 pm to discuss this matter at length, by which time Selectman Mahoney requested a detailed map showing all areas in question at the present time and with the proposed changes.

Massachusetts Attorney General Scott Harshbarger sent the board information regarding the Attorney General's "Local Environmental Enforcement Conference" to be held on November 14 from 8:00 am to 3:30 pm at Northeastern University Burlington campus.

A final letter was received from the Joint Committee on Public Safety advising that within the next few weeks, the Committee will be touring Police and Fire Stations to assess the condition of the various facilities and equipment currently in use. This is part of a regular check-up procedure.

Executive Secretary Carol Adams had two items to report:

- Natural Resource Officer Brian Nunes requested that Shining Tides be open to the taking of shellfish beginning Wednesday, October 14. The board unanimously approved the request.

- Dr. Mark Mahoney contacted her to thank the board for the gift of a Mattapoisett T-shirt and to inform them that he placed 9th out of 12 town runners and 35th out of a field of 60.

On a sad note, Ms. Adams mentioned that Board of Selectmen Secretary Melody Mills was in an automobile accident on Sunday, October 11. Thankfully, Ms. Mills was not severely injured, although her vehicle was totalled. Members of the board and the press present signed greeting cards for Ms. Mills and sent their best wishes for her speedy recovery. Get well soon, Mel!

There being no further business to tend to, the board unanimously voted to adjourn for the evening at 8:42 pm.

Marion Selectmen's Meeting

October 13, 1992

By Chandra Dewing

A meeting of the Marion Board of Selectmen was called to order on Tuesday, October 13, 1992 at 7:00 pm by Chairwoman Loretta B. Schaefer. Also present were Selectman James S. Dougall, Executive Secretary Ray E. Pickles and Secretary Helene Craver.

After signing warrants and bonds and approving the minutes of the October 6, 1992 meeting, correspondence was read from Arleen O'Donnell, Assistant Commissioner of the Bureau of Resource Protection, regarding the project titled "Spragues Cove Storm Water Remediation."

A problem arose from water runoff from Silver Beach wetlands that were flooding the streets. Effective September 30, 1992, a storm water system will be installed to handle the first half-inch of rainfall.

Next, a letter from Thomas G. Younger, Property Transactions Manager of the Office of Real Estate Management, informed the Board of Selectmen that the approximate 7.38 acre parcel of land that they were interested in buying was taken by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts with the participation of the Federal Highway Administration.

The parcel of land is adjacent to Interstate 195 in Marion and consists of wetlands. The Commonwealth will sell the land at Fair Market Value. After the property is appraised, the Board of Selectmen wishes to have first option to buy it.

James P. Jajuga, Senate Chairman and Paul E. Caron, House Chairman of the Joint Committee on Public Safety, sent correspondence announcing a Statewide Capital Needs Assessment of municipal police and fire departments throughout the Commonwealth.

The Committee on Public Safety will be visiting police and fire stations to thoroughly inspect the conditions of facilities and equipment. A lack of capital resources have prevented equipment from being upgraded and replaced, and as a result, has hindered effectiveness of public safety forces and jeopardized police and fire personnel safety. Moreover, police and fire chiefs will be encouraged to fill out a Public Safety Needs Assessment Survey.

Scott Harshbarger, Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, announced in his letter that there will be an Attorney General's Environmental Enforcement Training Conference expressly for local regulatory officials. The training will address the causes and concerns of environmental complaints.

The conference will take place at Northeastern University, Burlington Campus in Burlington, MA on Saturday, November 14 from 8:00 am to 3:30 pm. Enrollment is limited, so early registration is strongly advised.

The next issue discussed by the Board of Selectmen was a plan for solutions to specific problems that small communities possess. Mary Greendale, Administrator of the Division of Community Services sent a letter proposing a series of workshops designed for the elected and appointed officials of the small towns in Massachusetts with a 5,000 population or less.

The series of workshops will address subjects such concerns as saving dollars on tax anticipation borrowing land use, planning and economic development joint operations — communities working together.

The Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission announced to all licensing authorities — including hotels, restaurants, taverns, clubs, package stores, manufacturers, wholesalers and importers — that on the holidays they may sell or deliver alcoholic beverages at their discretion. The package stores may remain open until 11:30 pm on the day immediately before those holidays unless the holiday falls on a Sunday.

The problem of the existing bump-ridden road on Front Street came before the board. A letter to the governor will be written about the aggravating problem, which was caused by inexperience or inconsistent mixing. Engineers will determine the fate of the road, but whether it will be rolled out or reheated remains to be seen.

The closing news of the night was from Louis R. Nickinello, President of Ackerley Communications. The company applied to the State Outdoor Advertising Board for annual permit renewals with respect to their advertising displays in the community.

There being no further business or matters to come before the board, they adjourned for the evening.

Rochester Selectmen's Meeting

October 13, 1992

By Mariam Singer

The Rochester Board of Selectmen's meeting was called to order at 7:30 pm on October 13 by Chairman Harry A. Brown Jr. Also in attendance were Selectman Lorraine R.C. Roy and Selectmen's Secretary Shirley Ferreira.

The long-awaited fax from the Old Rochester Regional (ORR) School District arrived at the Selectmen's Office at 7:47 pm. Mr. Brown announced that the eight members of the ORR School District Committee had just approved $60,000 for an architectural and engineering survey in preparation for upgrading the ORR facilities. Rochester voters will again be asked to agree to pay their share of the bill. As a result, a voter information session will be held at 7:00 pm on November 9, when the article will be fully explained. The session will be followed by a Special Town Meeting at 8:00 pm. A vote on the article will be taken at that time. Passage of the article would approve a transfer of funds to augment or meet costs to fund operating costs of the ORR budget.

Selectmen announced that the warrant on the meeting will be advertised, and that residents who wish to submit additional articles to be included in the warrant submit them to the Selectmen's Office by 12:00 noon on October 23.

In other business, the minutes of the October 5, 1992 meeting were approved.

The Board then signed the warrant for the November 3 election. There is a vacancy for one Republican and one Democrat to work with the Registrar of Voters on voter registration. Interested persons are encouraged to notify Town Hall.

Barbara F. Smith has resigned from her position as Member-at-Large on the ORR Advisory Board. Selectmen are seeking to fill this position on the Capital Repairs Committee, formerly the ad hoc Committee, for Renovation Repairs at ORR. Those wishing to apply for the position are asked to notify the selectmen in writing before October 26.

Mr. Brown read a copy of a letter from Town Accountant Claudette Coutu to Town Treasurer Doris Boucher regarding bills from Fiscal Year 1992 for Rochester Memorial School. Although the bills for Office Max and BJ's Wholesale were signed in June, payment was withheld because it was understood that the bills were part of the Fiscal Year 1993 budget, thus, the Fiscal Year 1992 encumbrance.

Joao Rodrigues, Athletics Director at Old Rochester Regional High School, sent what Chairman Brown called "a very nice letter." Mr. Rodrigues indicated that season passes to home athletic events will be provided to the Selectmen.

Attorney General Scott Harshbarger sent a letter to the board which expressed his view "that local regulatory professionals are the front line in enforcement of the environmental laws so necessary to protect the public's health and safety." In line with this, he has established the "Attorney General's Environmental Enforcement Training Conference" for local regulatory officials. Conferences have been held in the past for police, fire officials, and prosecutors. The next conference, for local regulatory professionals, is scheduled for November 14 at Northeastern University's Burlington, Massachusetts campus. It will focus on techniques and substantive law as it affects hazardous waste, solid waste, wetlands, lead paint, asbestos, and seepage. The instructors will be specialists in environmental affairs.

Prudential Securities notified selectmen that they are offering tax-exempt bonds of the SEMASS partnership with a 9 percent coupon at a price of $1,117.11 per bond. According to John Flannery, Financial Advisor at Prudential, this would mean a current tax-exempt return of 8.8 percent, with a yield to call of 7.4 percent. Interested Rochester residents are encouraged to contact Mr. Flannery for a quarterly SEMASS report, and may obtain one by writing to him at Prudential Securities, Inc., 276 Barnstable Road, Hyannis, MA 02601, or by calling 1-800-352-7185.

There will be a fire hydrant installed between Town Hall and the vestry of the Congregational Church. Plans are underway for the Rochester Highway Department and the Marion Water Department to drill, trench, lay the pipe, and tie the church in on-line at the same time. One item not previously reckoned with was the discovery that a concrete slab would have to be placed over the patch by the hydrant prior to blacktopping it, and the expense was not calculated in the $3,000 budgeted for the job. However, it is thought that the money for the slab can be taken out of the original allocation.

Selectmen Brown and Roy voted "with prejudice" to pay an unemployment compensation invoice for two employees. However, the case will not be settled until after Highway Surveyor Jeff Eldridge's appearance in court on the matter, slated

Under New Business, selectmen voted to approve authorization for a town employee to take a computer course at Old Colony with no loss in pay. The employee's six-day class runs from 3:00 to 5:30 pm. Normally, this employee's workday ends at 4:30 pm, and Selectmen felt that not only is the employee taking a course that will ultimately benefit the town, but that she is also doing a substantial amount of classwork on her own time.

There being no further business to tend to, the meeting was adjourned at 8:19 pm.

Lincoln: An Illustrated Biography

• Phillip B. Kunhardt Jr., Phillip B. Kunhardt III and Peter W. Kunhardt, Alfred A. Knopf, $50

A really good one-volume biography of Lincoln has not yet appeared, and there is no reason why Lincoln: An Illustrated Biography should have filled the gap. One is not really buying this book to read. One is buying it, and quite rightly, for the absolutely magnificent illustrations.

These are the result of historic good fortune. The Kunhardts are grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Frederick Hill Meserve. Meserve (and later his daughter Dorothy Meserve Kunhardt) was the preeminent collector of Lincoln-related photographs and memorabilia in this century.

On that score alone, Lincoln is a worthwhile companion to Ken Burns' The Civil War.

Mark Twain: Collected Tales, Sketches, Speeches & Essays Volume I: 1852-1890, Volume II: 1891-1910,

Library of America, $35 each/$70 boxed pair

In the incurious age of Disney and claymation, our view of Mark Twain tends to a denatured Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn and old folks at home. As with so many softened portraits, this one misses so much as to become almost false.

Humor is the ephemeral thing, as anyone who has read back issues of Punch can attest. What is startling about Twain is not that on occasion he falls flat, but the great amounts of his writing that still work.

As Twain was both author of the great American novel and a man of decent conscience, it is fitting that his other work be widely available in good editions. Library of America is a very good edition.

"Beyond the Storms" will be the title of the sermon. Our worship service begins at 10:00 am. Will Awareness and Personal Financial Planning

Is your head in the sand when it comes to financial and estate planning? Have you been reluctant to look around for some sound assistance? If your answer to both is "yes," then the program set for October 22, at 7:30 pm, in Reynard Hall, Mattapoisett Congregational Church is for you.

The Church invites all members of the community to attend an informal program on Will Awareness and the Advantages of Planned Giving in Personal Financial Planning.

The program will last about two hours allowing the experts to explain their topic and answer questions that arise.

Elizabeth H. Kunz, Esq. will discuss planning for wills, durable powers of attorney, and health care proxies.

Paul A. Surface, CFP, will explain the principles of planned giving with examples to illustrate benefits to the donor. Gift annuities, charitable remainder trusts (unitrust or annuity trust), and pooled income funds are some of the topics which will be covered.

Refreshments will be provided. For additional information, call the Church Office at 758-2671.

Mattapoisett P.T.A.

The Mattapoisett P.T.A. has gotten off to a very exciting and busy start this year. At our September monthly meeting there were many new faces, quite a few who stepped forward to fill some of the vacancies on the board. By the end of a very busy and productive Open House at both Center and Old Hammondtown Schools, we were pleased to see that every board position had been filled.

With our Membership Drive and wrapping paper fund-raiser well under way, with Book Fair and Santa's Workshop committees already working hard, and with the ongoing effort of our Sweatshirt sales, Art and Humanities, Publicity, Hospitality and Fund-raising committees, we are looking forward to many positive and productive events to benefit our children.

Our next meeting will be held at Center School on Tuesday, October 20, at 7:00 pm. For those who have attended P.T.A. meetings in the past and have for some reason not returned, we urge you to give it another try. Great for breakfast or a snack, and 3 1/2 lb. package of chicken thighs. Also included in the order was 5 lbs. of potatoes, 2 lbs. onions, carrots, tomatoes, cucumbers, broccoli; 3 lbs Macintosh apples, bananas, pears, peanuts, jello, pudding in cups, bean soup mix. All this for only $14.00. Sign up now.

Old Colony Regional District

PSAT at Old Colony Regional

National PSAT exams (practice for the Scholastic Aptitude Test) are scheduled to be held at Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School in Rochester on October 22.

Juniors who have not previously taken the PSAT's and interested sophomores are encouraged to participate in the testing program. Students benefit from having experienced the type of test they will face in the SAT's often necessary for college acceptance.

Their scores in both the verbal and math sections are analyzed, with specific problem areas identified, allowing them to concentrate on their weakest skills in preparation for future testing.

The PSAT's will begin at 8:00 am and be completed by approximately 10:30 am. There is a $7.00 fee required upon registration.

Since the number of test booklets available at Old Colony will be limited, students are encouraged to register early to ensure their participation. Complete information on the PSAT's is available at the school.

Writing For The Community Project

School has started and academic plans are beginning. Not so at Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School. At this school in Rochester academic projects are continuing.

Last year Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School participated in a Writing for the Public project in conjunction with Clemson University and Bread Loaf School of English funded by the Bingham Trust. One tenth grade class produced a brochure on AIDS and another on Date Rape. These are now being used in the Health classes and being given to the sending schools for use in their guidance offices. The other tenth grade class worked with Cynthia Angus of Com/Electric writing the articles for the Comment which was inserted in the June/July billing in 1992.

Just as one day moves to the next, last year's project is moving to new students in the tenth grade classes under the direction of

Old Colony VICA

Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School recently completed its election of officers for its local VICA chapter. VICA, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, provides opportunities for vocational-technical students throughout the United States to compare their skills in all trade areas.

Elected to serve as officers for the 1992-1993 school year were: President — Nicole St. Amand - Freetown, Vice-President — Emily A. Viator - Acushnet, Secretary — Stacy Monte - Acushnet, Reporter — Jennifer Hart - Carver, Parliamentarian — Nerissa E. Malcolm - Mattapoisett, Treasurer — Andrea L. Perry - Acushnet, Historian — Brandy Scalabroni - Rochester.

The new officers will participate in a three day leadership seminar in the fall.

Chapter of VICA

The Old Colony chapter of VICA offers members of the community a fantastic value just in time for the holidays.

A 10 x 13 family portrait mounted on canvas, regularly selling for $40.00, is available now for just $5.00.

Provided by Majestic Family Portraits and backed by a 30 day unconditional money-back guarantee, the photographs will be taken by appointment on Saturday, October 24. This VICA fundraiser will be held at Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School, 476 North Avenue, Rochester.

The finished portraits will be returned approximately three and a half weeks later along with reprinted packages of additional photo copies which are made available without obligation for purchase. VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) uses its treasury to support Old Colony student participation in state and national training programs and skills competitions.

An extremely active and successful organization, Old Colony's VICA members earned nine medals in the 1991 - 92 state competitions with five students advancing to the National Skills Olympics. One, a welding student, has achieved the final level of international competition which continues throughout this school year.

Monies raised from the sales of portraits will help support similar activities in the future.

Certificates for portraits may be purchased from any VICA member or may be obtained by calling Mr. Marcus Ashley at 763-8011 during school hours.

"Parents as Partners"

For the second year, Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School has received a Commonwealth In-Service Grant to fund evening programs focusing on issues of concern to parents and other community members.

Based on recommendations made during the previous school year, the new series of "Parents as Partners" will offer presentations on dealing with grief, crisis intervention, sexual harassment and a forum for the sharing of information and services available through community resources. The programs will also include a sample class for the school's new health curriculum and will welcome students, parents and other community members for a "rap" session for the sharing of successes and problems.

The teen-parent rap session will be held at Old Colony from 6:30 to 8:30 pm on Thursday, October 29. Old Colony students, parents and other interested community members are invited to participate in the discussion or to attend as audience observers.

All "Parents as Partners" sessions are free and open to the public. The series is aimed at improving school and family communications and services that will benefit Old Colony students.

For more information, Old Colony Regional residents are urged to contact Irene Duprey-Gutierrez at 763-8011 during school hours.

The Coalition for Buzzards Bay

State of Buzzards Bay Reported by Coalition

October 1 shellfish bed closings around Buzzards Bay have been released by the Coalition for Buzzards Bay, based on data from the Massachusetts Division of Marine Fisheries (DMF). Acres closed because of fecal coliform bacteria counts totalled 13,434, with an additional 2,371 acres closed conditionally, for a grand total of 15,805.

Following are closure figures, as of October 1, for each municipality around the Bay, west to east: Westport, 1,040 acres, plus 1,488 conditionally; Dartmouth, 2,600 acres, plus 286 conditionally; New Bedford, 3,242 acres, plus 319 conditionally; Acushnet, 59 acres; Fairhaven, 3,565 acres, plus 278 conditionally; Mattapoisett, 382 acres; Marion, 407 acres; Wareham, 981 acres; Bourne, 901 acres; Falmouth, 154 acres; Gosnold, 103 acres.

The Falmouth and Gosnold figures reflect closures along Buzzards Bay and not on the Vineyard and Nantucket Sound side.

The above figures compare to 16,207 acres closed on October 1, 1991, and 17,890 on that date in 1990.

DMF is continuing to work with the Bay towns to open beds conditionally, when weather/rainfall conditions permit. This is resulting in increased harvests commercially and by recreational users of the Bay. Clark's Cove, with a landed value of $364,000 from its shellfish harvest in the first four months of its conditional opening, is a prime example of the economic benefits from a clearer Bay.

The Coalition continues to urge citizens to pump their septic systems regularly, both to maintain a healthy system to minimize upkeep and to keep waste from overflowing and contaminating nearby waterways, including Buzzards Bay. Fall is an optimum time to have systems pumped, following the crush of summer and before cold weather hardens sludge in the bottom of the tank.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts are co-sponsoring a public meeting on October 22 in New Bedford to hear citizen concerns and ideas on a proposed Coastwide Monitoring Program for Massachusetts. Such a program would pinpoint polluted areas, determine the causes, prescribe remedies, and lead to actions that would revitalize coastal waters all around the state. Secretary of Environment Affairs Susan F. Tierney appointed fifteen coastal representatives to a Steering Committee in April to advise her on how best to set up the proposed program. Representing the Buzzards Bay region is Mimi McConnell, Executive Director of the Coalition.

Five public meetings are scheduled, as follows:

October 20: Norwell, Town Hall, 345 Main Street, 7:30 pm.

October 22: New Bedford, Buttonwood Library, 745 Rockdale Avenue, 7:00 pm.

October 27: New England Aquarium, Central Wharf, Boston, 7:00 pm.

Among the topics for public discussion are the structuring of a proposed monitoring board, funding for the program, priorities for monitoring, and coordination of information and actions.

Last January, Secretary Tierney noted in an address to the Coalition that $70.7 billion, or 53.3%, of the Gross State Product in 1985 originated from coast-related activities. Improving the quality of Massachusetts coastal waters is linked directly and indirectly to the economy, she added.

Ducks Unlimited

The Sippican committee of Ducks Unlimited will hold its 13th annual membership dinner at Riverside Restaurant on Rte. 2 in Middleboro on October 16 at 6:00 pm. "The Ducks Unlimited success story", said committee chairman Paul Magee, "is really starting to spread. Local Ducks Unlimited fundraising events held throughout the country last year contributed towards Ducks Unlimited's national fundraising effort of $67.4 million during 1989 alone. But what's even more important to realize", said Magee, "is that this national fundraising total must increase this year if the North American waterfowl habitat race is to be won."

Each year the United States loses some 400,000 acres of wetland habitat. Since its inception, Ducks Unlimited has raised over one-half billion dollars and enhanced and restored 5.3 million habitat acres, encompassing over 5,000 wetland projects, in an effort to reverse this destructive trend. DU's projects provide habitat for over 600 wildlife species, including ducks, geese, and endangered species like the whooping crane and bald eagle.

While DU has accomplished a great deal since its founding in 1937, the rapid draining of our wetlands demands that the organization continue to accelerate its work. Efforts like those of the Sippican committee are a vital part of DU's efforts.

For information on how you can support Ducks Unlimited's program of wetlands conservation, contact Scott Cowell at 748-1475 for further details.

Presidential cartoons of Taylor Jones

"The Presidents", featuring the Presidential cartoons of Taylor Jones (Kennebunkport, ME) and other campaign memorabilia is the sixth and last changing art show this season, in the Old Barn Gallery, Heritage Plantation. The exhibit runs through October 25. In addition to the art, Mr. Jones' book, "Add-Verse To Presidents", will be on sale in the gallery, for $3.00 including tax.

Jones has lived in such diverse places as Long Island, Iowa, Mississippi, West Virginia and, now, Staten Island. He worked as an intern for the "Delta Democrat-Times", in Greenville, Mississippi, in 1974. Later that year, he was hired as second cartoonist for the "Charleston (West Virginia) Gazette", where he worked until 1981. His cartoons are distributed nationally by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate. In 1982 Jones published his book presenting caricatures of all U.S. Presidents, (except President Bush.) Hodding Carter III, Former Assistant Secretary of State, writes in the preface of the book, "Taylor Jones is one of the most gifted practitioners of his art form, bringing acute vision and imaginative distortion to the men and women he delineates on paper."

Also included in the show is a collage of newspaper clippings of the current Presidential campaign created by Philip Dolan, Heritage Plantation Artist Preparator.

Each President is seen through the sardonic eyes of Jones. Lyndon B. Johnson's head sits on the body of a turkey, John F. Kennedy sports a halo, the upper part of Jimmy Carter's face is obscured by a cap decorated with a confederate flag, and Ronald Reagan, "The actor now sits in the director's chair."

Admission is $7.00 adults, $6.00 senior citizens, $3.50 youths ages 6 - 18, and five and under are free. Heritage Plantation will close for the season at the end of the day, Sunday, October 25. For more information, please call 508-888-3300.

The leader for the morning survey of the many varied and usually productive habitats will be George Mock, a Mattapoissett resident and dedicated birder well known in the region for his birding expertise and broad knowledge of birds' life styles and favored haunts.

Under favorable weather conditions Mr. Mock's bird finding technique may utilize a tape player to attract birds from obscured to open areas. Once he has them in the clear, watchers may find them more easily with binoculars. Mr. Mock may sometimes enhance such viewing with the aid of a high-powered scope that produces much greater magnification.

Although the level of bird migration and bird population in general has been rather low this fall, it has been, - perhaps for that very reason, - an interestingly different phenomenon. Appearances by odd or unexpected species have been that much more notable, and the challenge to discover the expected species is intensified, adding greatly to the excitement of discovery.

The tri-town area targeted is traditionally rewarding to birders. Because of the number of birding stops the Saturday morning tour will include, birding on foot will generally be restricted to likely-productive stopping places reached by auto under Mr. Mock's leadership. There is no fee for nonmember participation.

In the event of inclement weather, or for added information about this event, interested persons may call Mr. Mock at 758-4408.

Glass Museum in order to provide an overview of the variety and range of glass produced in New Bedford from the opening of the Mount Washington Glass Company in 1870 until the close of the Gundersen-Pairpoint Glass Works in 1957.

By doubling the amount of locally-made glass on view at the Whaling Museum, the new exhibit offers visitors an introduction to some of the finest products of New Bedford's glass making.

When the New Bedford Glass Museum closed, a large part of its collection was turned over to the Old Dartmouth Historical Society's Whaling Museum. In addition to glass objects, the collection includes Pairpoint metal wares, lamps, design drawings, photographs, catalogues and business records from Mount Washington Glass Company, Pairpoint Glass, Smith Brothers, Blackmer and Gundersen.

The Mount Washington Glass Company opened its doors in New Bedford in 1876. In the 1880s, it gained a national reputation for its new forms of American art glass such as Burmese, Peachblow, Royal Flemish and Crown Milano.

By the 1890s art glass popularity waned and was replaced by deep cut crystal. The Mount Washington Glass Company was itself absorbed by its neighbor, the Pairpoint Company, which specialized not only in clear and colored cut glass products but also in silver plated wares. Larger than Mount Washington, Pairpoint employed over two thousand workers in its heyday from 1900 - 1925. Pairpoint sold products in finished form to the retail market and pieces of undecorated glass to smaller manufacturers who specialized in decorating and engraving the blanks. Blackmer and Smith Brothers were the largest local firms who purchased from Pairpoint.

After the depression of 1929, the glass industry went into a decline that ended with the closing, due to a fire, of the Gundersen Pairpoint Company (a successor to the Pairpoint Glass Company) in 1958.

This exhibit of products manufactured by the several New Bedford glass companies will be on view until the spring of 1993 and can be seen at the Museum at 18 Johnny Cake Hill, New Bedford, MA 02740 508-997-0046.
